

WZB Berlin Social Science Center Post Doc Job Market Job Offer

The WZB Berlin Social Science Center offers a position for a postdoctoral research associate starting in the summer/fall of 2027 for two years, with the possibility of an extension. Strong researchers with a background in applied labor economics and with a research focus on gender are encouraged to apply.

The position is financed by the third party funded project “Women and Work in the 21st Century”. The project team consists of three postdoctoral researchers and is headed by Nicola Fuchs-Schündeln. The project is an integral part of the economic research group ‘Inequality, Social Mobility and Growth’ at the WZB.

The WZB Berlin Social Science Center is a publicly funded research institute within the German Leibniz association. As the largest social science research institute in Germany, the WZB combines researchers from sociology, political science, economics, and law. The research conducted at the WZB is theory-based and problem-oriented. The position at the WZB implies freedom from teaching obligations, strong administrative support for your projects, for your own grant proposals and workshop organization, as well as many opportunities to interact with academic peers.

For more details about the position, please contact babette.hagemann@wzb.eu and refer to the homepage of the WZB.

Following the interviews, shortlisted candidates will receive information on the next steps in the recruitment process at the respective host institution.
